TOLEDO (May 26, 2016) -- The Northwest and West Central Ohio and Southeast Michigan Better Business Bureau (BBB) has named National Payment Corporation (NPC) as recipient of its prestigious Torch Award for Marketplace Ethics. The award recognizes NPC for its strong commitment to integrity, customer service and community involvement.

National Payment Corporation is the ONLY brick & mortar Bankcard Processing office located in Northwest Ohio. Through various satellite offices the NPC team is able to provide their industry leading approach with business owners across the country, in addition to the Northwest Ohio region.

"We are delighted to accept the BBB Torch Award on behalf of our clients, community partners, and employees," said Michael Wilson, President and CEO of NPC. "This award reinforces our reputation as a trustworthy partner in an industry where misleading sales tactics run rampant. We conduct our business with integrity simply because it is essential to who we are, what we do and how we do it. Our clients rely on us to provide safe, reliable and streamlined bankcard processing options, and the Torch Awards have given us a wonderful opportunity to share our unique approach to others."

For the past 15 years, the Northwest & West Central Ohio & Southeast Michigan BBB has hosted the Torch Awards for Marketplace Ethics to promote not only the importance of ethical business practices, but the willingness and efforts of outstanding businesses to ensure that our marketplace remains fair and honorable. The Torch Awards program is open to all businesses and organizations that serve all Northwest & West Central Ohio & Southeast Michigan. Companies must be in good standing with the BBB; however BBB Accreditation is not a requirement for entry consideration. Each year, a panel of business owners and past Torch Award recipients gather to review the information packets presented on all nominated businesses to choose finalists and one winner in each category, varying by the size of the company, presenting each winner with their own Torch Award. The Torch Awards allow the BBB to honor businesses that epitomize ethics and integrity; that are choosing to do the right thing for consumers in a time when so many others struggle with accountability.
